Given the current situation, now that COVID-19 has been declared a Public Health Emergency of International Concern by the WHO, DAVANTIS has decided to take measures to guarantee the health and well-being of our team and all our partners.

With this in mind, we have provided the necessary tools to ensure that DAVANTIS' activity is not affected by this extraordinary situation and we have decided to restrict all national and international travel to only essential trips.

As far as we are concerned, it is people, and our relationships with our clients that matter most. In DAVANTIS we are still available to offer you all our services and solutions. Our technical support team is here to cover all your needs.

DAVANTIS is taking a responsible, supportive role to this health emergency, and we have decided to adopt the necessary measures until the situation returns to normal.
